Privacy Policy

Foundation Telecommunications, Inc. ("FTI") has created this privacy statement in order to demonstrate our commitment to privacy. The following discloses our information gathering and dissemination practices for this website: www.ftionline.com. This privacy policy applies only to information collected by or through this website. It does not apply to information obtained by other means.

Information Collection and Use

This website makes use of browser "cookies". Cookies are files written to a user's hard disk and read by the server programs to inform a website if the user has previously visited that site. We may use cookies to deliver content specific to your interests, to save your password so you don't have to re-enter it each time you visit our site, and for other purposes. Cookies can be rejected by you and if so none of the functions listed above will be performed.

We collect information from website visitors who must register for certain services on-line, from users who agree to participate in on-line surveys, and from users who wish to make certain on-line information requests from us. Because participation in these activities is completely voluntary, the user has a choice whether or not to disclose this information. The type of information so requested or collected by us may include user contact information (such as your name and email address) and user demographic information (like gender or age). Contact information will be used only as specified on the form being submitted. Anonymous survey information will be used for purposes of reporting survey results and monitoring or improving the use and satisfaction of this site or our services. Users' personally identifiable information is not shared or sold to third parties. The visitor's contact information may be used to contact the visitor when the visitor has expressed interest in being contacted (visitors can opt-out of receiving future mailings by complying with the choice/output requirements noted below). The visitor may contact admin@ftionline.com to request the removal of this information from our database. We use your IP address to help diagnose problems with our server, and to administer our website. We track and record IP addresses that access our site for reporting and profiling purposes only. We also gather anonymous browsing habits of our visitors to better identify content preferences. User demographic information may be shared with third parties on an aggregate basis in a manner which will not personally identify the individual submitting such information. We may share personally identifiable user information with governmental authorities when legally required to do so, and to cooperate with such authorities investigating claims of suspected illegal activity. We may also disclose personally identifiable information in other cases where we have reason to believe that disclosure is necessary to enforce compliance with our Acceptable Use Policy. Other than these specific exceptions noted, we do not sell, rent or provide access to any data collected about or from our users.

Linking and Framing

This site may contain links to other sites. This site is not responsible for the privacy practices or the content of such websites. Occasionally when linking to another site, you may still see our site's logo or frame. This is to provide you with a seamless experience when visiting our website. In these cases you are no longer on FTIONline.com and are now on a different website whose information collection practices may differ from ours. The privacy policy of the site you are on will govern how information collected from you is used.
